~ PLEIN AIR PAINTING ~

Anne Crown-Cyr...

For me, art is about seeing and capturing the everyday and ordinary in a special way to create a mood, interest, and reflection. Compositions should be strong, have movement and balance, interesting color, and allow the content to speak for itself, thereby bringing the viewer to the painting through an individual and personal response.

If you enjoyed our September presentation on Plein Air Painting Tips and would like to try your hand at it, please join us...

- Bring some colorful items for setups outside in the light, such as blocks/ bottles/ items of different colors and shapes. Solid objects are good because they limit reflected light but bring whatever you like.
- We will set up still-life-type arrangements to focus on the color of light and changing light, or you can paint surrounding trees and objects if you like.
- This is just for fun and to try to see some of the reasons why artists are drawn to the plein air approach. If it rains, we'll work indoors.
- Bring your paints, sketchbook, paper, and materials for set-ups.

If you have a painting you are working on and would like feedback or suggestions, please bring it. We are happy to help.
